To whom it may concern,

Manish Hathiramani has been a consultant for the Sensex product here at DGCX, for the past 18 months. He has been a pleasure to work with, providing a very powerful and influential inputs and building his profile among the regional key media at this young age, is an important achievement, especially with the large number of analysts and economists in this area. Manish's inputs, communication and skills are excellent, and he has some very innovative ideas.

We are putting the final touches to a biweekly article that will be written by Manish, to be published in the two largest English newspapers in the Middle East (Gulf News and Khaleej Times) very soon.

I can highly recommend him for this award. Manish is a talented young man, and everyone here wishes him all the best with his current decision to setting up a local office and heading to other countries to route business via DGCX. If you need any additional information, please contact me.

Best Regards,
